Van Backing Safety

Avoid backing by setting up a front exit.

Back from the driver’s side to improve visibility.

Rear cameras help, but you must also use your mirrors to see all blindspots.

Always complete a walk-around of your vehicle before backing.

Assess areas you are backing into for overhangs, wires, and other obstructions. GOAL

When backing in difficult situations, gain the assistance of a reliable spotter. Stop if you lose sight of the spotter.

GOAL: Get Out and Look

Do not position your vehicle so you will have to back into traffic.
Van Backing Safety

15-Passenger vans have larger blind spots than cars. Adjust mirrors to minimize blind spots on both sides and directly behind.

Adjust your side mirrors for maximum visibility. You should not see too much of the van in your mirrors.

Children under five years old and adults 70 and older have an elevated risk of being back-over victims compared to the rest of the population. According to NHTSA, 47% of passenger vehicle back-over fatalities involved victims younger than five years old.

Use extra caution around children and the elderly.

Shut off your radio, stop distracting activities, and roll your window down so you can hear.

'Fatalities and Injuries in Motor Vehicle Backing Crashes; The Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users; Report to the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure and the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation

The information used to create this brochure was obtained from sources believed to be reliable. Nationwide, its affiliates, and employees do not guarantee improved results based upon the information contained herein and assume no liability in connection with the information or the provided safety suggestions. The recommendations provided are general in nature; unique circumstances may not warrant or require implementation of some or all of the safety suggestions. There may be additional available safety procedures that are not referenced in this brochure. Nationwide, Nationwide is on your side, and the Nationwide N and Eagle are service marks of Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company. © 2020 Nationwide